EXEMPT NEGROES FROM TAXES!

Fayette's Fantastic Fight

by Stilwell Leake

As the traveler approached the town of Fayetteville, Texas, County Seat of Fayette County, via highway 37, he stumbled upon a scene of incredible courage and determination. The Negroes of Fayette County, led by their hero, Mr. Muhammad, have taken a stand against the oppressive taxation system that seeks to夺 their freedom and dignity.

Mr. Muhammad, a man of great wisdom and conviction, has declared that a new era of justice and equality must be established. He cites the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights, stating that all citizens, regardless of race, should be protected under the law with equal rights and privileges. He further argues that Negroes are not only entitled to these rights but must also fight for their equal treatment.

In the words of Mr. Muhammad:

"We are not asking for charity, but for our rightful place in this society. We are ready to fight for our freedom and rights. We will no longer be content with being treated as second-class citizens. We demand equal justice and equal rights."

This struggle is not only for the Negroes of Fayette County but for all Negroes across the nation. It is a call to action for all those who believe in justice and equality. Mr. Muhammad's message resonates with the spirit of the American Revolution, where people fought for their freedom and rights.

This is the story of a man who has chosen to stand up for what is right. His courage and determination inspire us all to take a stand against injustice. Mr. Muhammad's words echo through the halls of justice, reminding us of our collective responsibility to fight for a better tomorrow.

For more details on this incredible fight, please continue to Part II.
Civil Liberties Group Hit House Un-Americans

No 'Room At The Top' For Negroes

New York: The old belief that there is always "room at the top" in a democracy has been shattered by the recent disclosures of widespread discrimination against Negroes in almost every walk of life.

The Civil Liberties Group, in a new report, charges that Negroes are denied access to top positions in business, education, and government. "Negroes have been excluded from many medical schools, law schools, and hospitals," the report states. "They are barred from many of the best schools and colleges in the country."

The report also notes that Negroes are frequently denied the right to vote in many states and that they are often subjected to physical coercion in efforts to keep them from exercising their voting rights.

Muhammad Calls For Tax Cut For 20 Million U.S. Negroes

MINISTER SAYS NEGROES NOW HELD AS 'VIRTUAL SLAVES'

Newspaper - While the "What The Muslims Want" editorial was issued almost 100 years ago, it is still relevant today.

NEGRO HISTORY CLASSICS - The September 15, 1962, issue of the Defender features an article by Malcolm X, who was a prominent civil rights leader.

When they are coerced, "they know what kind of tools they are going into and that they will lose their jobs, but they are willing to make the sacrifices." - Father King

The Minister's call for tax exemption was made in the context of the growing disparity between the income earned by Negro families and the low income of hopelessly unemployed Negroes.

The Muslim leader's declaration came upon the heels of the resignation of President Johnson's pick for the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Drinan, who was named to the post based on his record in Congress. The resignation of the Negro leader was called for by the House of Representatives during the House debate.

TOURING AFRICANS TRY TO EAT IN ALBANY

Ordered Out Of Georgia Restaurant.

Two Africans touring the United States were given a first-hand demonstration of what Negroes have undergone for 100 years in the world's greatest democracy.

The Africans were caught in the net of the Albany, Ga.,—ed rights fight and narrowly escaped being jacked along with the white and black demonstrators against segregation.

Mrs. Frances Price of the Caribbean and Americas Symposium, who had arrived in the city with the group, told the Negroes that they were being watched by the police and that they could be arrested if they did not leave.

The group was told that they were being observed by the police and that they could be arrested if they did not leave.

After the group was arrested, they were taken to the city jail and held for several hours before being released.

RACE HATE TENSIONS MAY BE TOP HEART ATTACK FACTORS

A White Supremacist environment may be one of the greatest contributors to the high rate of heart attacks in this country. The problem of heart disease caused by racial hatred and racial animosity is a major factor in the staggering toll taken by heart attacks, said Dr. Henry F. Wadler, head of the Preventive Medicine Department of the University of Chicago.

The white doctor cited several studies which indicate that heart disease, which is the leading cause of death in the United States, is more prevalent in areas where racial tensions are high. He said that heart disease is most prevalent in the South, where racial conflicts are most intense.

Dr. Wadler also said that heart disease is more common in areas where there is a high degree of emotional stress, which is often caused by racial conflict. He said that the emotional stress of racial tension can cause the body to release chemicals that can weaken the heart and lead to heart attacks.

A study of heart disease in the South showed that the death rate from heart disease was 20% higher in areas with a high degree of racial tension than in areas with a low degree of racial tension. The study also showed that heart disease was more common in areas where there was a high degree of unemployment and poverty, which are also factors that can contribute to heart disease.

Dr. Wadler said that heart disease is not just a problem for the elderly, but is a major problem for people of all ages. He said that heart disease can strike anyone at any time, and that the best way to prevent heart disease is to reduce stress and to live a healthy lifestyle.

"The problem of heart disease is not just a problem for the elderly," said Dr. Wadler. "It is a problem for all of us, and we need to work together to reduce stress and to live a healthy lifestyle if we want to prevent heart disease."
DuSable Given Belated Chicago Tribute

Belated tribute to the founder of Chicago were given at the Navy Pier exhibition celebrating the 150th year of the founding of the city.

In the early evening of the Chicago exhibit, the fact that a pioneer of African descent was the first permanent settler in the fabulous industrial region would have gone unrecorded had it not been for the split issuance of the African-American Heritage Association's "emotional letter" to Illinois Governor Otto Kerner.

The AAI pointed out to the Governor that while elaborate preparations were under way to memorialize Chicago's history, something should be done to honor the man who started it all, Jean Baptiste Pointe DuSable.

The Governor promptly responded with a decree pointing out that "we have fixed up to the greatness he and other men achieved for this city, and that said that "the efforts of this resourceful pioneer and Chicago's first settler have been generally overlooked."

Days Before Week
Kerner argued that the week of Aug. 19-25 be set aside as DuSable week and said "we will endeavor to make up for our past neglect."

The AAI had already sent word to the Vatican requesting it to honor such a distinguished Chicago could have been overlooked in post modern honor. DuSable an advent houseman, owned a wide area on the North bank of the Chicago river and was the city's first successful houseman - trad- ual.

'2' Tells Trials, Success Of Joe Louis Milk Co.

The Joe Louis Milk Company has led a double life in the last few years. Joe Louis has been the company's name. But since its small beginning in 1932, it has provided wholesome quality products and enjoyed solid growth.

In 1932, the company was founded as the Levittown Dairy Products Co. Despite its short lifespan, it succeeded in providing quality milk products to the community. In 1933, the company was renamed the Joe Louis Milk Co., in honor of the boxer Joe Louis.

The company faced challenges and had to adapt to meet the demands of its customers. It had to improve its production methods and expand its distribution network to stay competitive.

Despite these challenges, the company continued to grow and expand. The addition of modern equipment and the implementation of new practices helped the company become more efficient and profitable.

As the company continued to grow, it became one of the leading milk producers in the region. Its commitment to quality and customer satisfaction earned it a loyal customer base.

Alderman Tells Funeral Directors: "Make Life Better For The Living"

One of Chicago's oldest Negro funeral directors, Elmore R. Willet, 222 South Wabash Ave., North Side, 5th Floor, has given the funeral directors of America a new role. He has told them that they should make life better for the living as well as the dead.

"Funeral directors," he said, "are charged with the responsibility of preserving the dignity of the dead. But they should also remember that they have a responsibility to the living. They should help the living to cope with the problems of death and to understand that death is not the end, but rather the beginning of a new life."
Alderman Tells Funeral Directors: "Make Life Better for the Living"

One of Chicago's six Negro aldermen told the 250-member National Funeral Directors and Embalming Association meeting last week at the Hotel Sherman, that "the Negro funeral business in the city of Chicago is going to have to be run on a Christian basis in order to get the confidence of the people." The meeting was called by President H. S. Miller of the NFTA, in the capacity of NFTA and Negroes. The Negroes, according to the present, had been left out of the picture of Negro funeral business in the city. Alderman and embalming director, Miller said, "This has been a very sad day for the Negro funeral business in the city, and we will have to start all over again." Miller said that the NFTA had been formed because the "Harlem "Funeral Directors" had a number of our elderly children and the alderman in his fight to win equality."

"These young people are coming into very good service, and our work is being blocked by the segregation laws. We have to fight this battle, and we have to fight the 'no black' laws."

Miller added that the NFTA has been formed to fight this battle, and that the members of the association would be the leaders in the fight for equality.

His work has been instrumental in shaping our understanding of the social, economic, and political conditions of African American communities.

Charges His Report On Bias Lost Him U. S. Job

This letter challenges the notion that higher education is biased against African Americans. The author argues that charges of bias are nothing new and that the real issue is the lack of diversity in the academic community. They call for a more inclusive and equitable system of education that recognizes and values the contributions of all students.

Fayette Fought For Freedom

Remember "Tent City"?
TENN. NEGROES CONTINUE FIGHT

It was at this point that a lot of the Negroes became aware of the importance of being registered. There were no Negroes who were not registered in the County. All Negroes who were not registered were told that they would be unable to vote in the upcoming election. After the registration deadline passed, many of the Negroes who were not registered began to worry about what would happen if they were not able to vote. Many of them began to think about how they could register in order to vote.

McKernan, in an effort to keep the Negroes from voting, had ordered his deputies to arrest anyone who attempted to register. He even went so far as to order his deputies to arrest anyone who tried to registers on his farm. This caused many of the Negroes to become frustrated and anguished.

The Negroes who were able to register were then able to vote in the election. However, the election was not without its problems. The election was marred by violence and intimidation. Many of the Negroes who tried to vote were beaten and forced to leave the polling places. The election was a clear example of the disfranchisement of the Negroes in Tennessee.

The end of the "Tent City" movement was marked by the registration of thousands of Negroes. However, the registration of the Negroes was not enough to ensure their full participation in the political process. The Negroes who were able to register were still subject to violence and intimidation. The election was a clear example of the disfranchisement of the Negroes in Tennessee.
The Ballot Box
Hope In Fayette County "Picture"

The scene was a crowded market in a small town in Fayette County. The community was divided, and the issue at hand was a local school bond. The town was的一份子们 were divided over whether to support the bond, which was crucial for the future of the school system. Some were concerned about the cost, while others believed it was necessary for the community's growth.

In the midst of the debate, a group of young volunteers gathered to canvass the community. They were determined to get out the vote, despite the challenges they faced. The volunteers were a mix of different backgrounds, and they knew that the outcome of the bond referendum was critical.

As they knocked on doors, the volunteers encountered various reactions. Some residents were skeptical, while others were enthusiastic about the cause. The volunteers listened intently, answering questions and addressing concerns.

Although the road ahead was uncertain, the volunteers remained committed to their goal. They understood that the bond vote would determine the future of education in their community. As they continued their canvassing efforts, the volunteers were filled with a sense of hope, knowing that every vote mattered.

In the end, the outcome of the referendum would shape the direction of the school system. The volunteers knew that they had played a crucial role in mobilizing the community and raising awareness about the importance of the bond issue.

The scene was a testament to the power of grassroots organizing and the determination of community members to come together for a common goal. As the volunteers dispersed, they carried with them the knowledge that their efforts had made a difference in their town, and they were ready to face whatever challenges lay ahead.

The Honorable Elijah Muhammad
BY ABDUL B. NAJEEB

The struggle for freedom is a fundamental right of every human being. It is an inalienable right that transcends race, religion, and national boundaries. The struggle for freedom is not a luxury; it is a necessity that must be pursued with determination and persistence.

The struggle for freedom involves understanding the historical context of oppression and the structural barriers that perpetuate it. It requires an analysis of the root causes of discrimination and the systems that sustain it. The struggle for freedom is a collective endeavor, where individuals and communities come together to challenge the status quo and demand equality.

The Honorable Elijah Muhammad, a先驱者 in the struggle for freedom, understood the importance of education and knowledge in the fight for liberation. He emphasized the necessity of self-awareness and the cultivation of a critical consciousness. Through his teachings, he encouraged individuals to break free from the shackles of ignorance and to fight against injustice.

The struggle for freedom is not just about the immediate pursuit of rights; it is about creating a better future for all. It is about building a society that values diversity, inclusion, and respect for human dignity. The struggle for freedom is a lifelong commitment, where we work towards a world where every human being is treated with dignity and respect.

As we commemorate the legacy of Elijah Muhammad, let us remember the power of his words and the wisdom he imparted. Let us honor his memory by continuing the struggle for freedom and by working towards a more equitable and just society. Let us be guided by his principles and his unwavering commitment to the cause of freedom.

Today, we stand on the shoulders of giants, and we have an opportunity to make a difference. Let us not waste this chance. Let us be the change we wish to see in the world. Let us be the agents of change, and let us work towards a future where freedom and justice reign supreme.

Together, we can create a world where every human being is valued and respected. Let us continue the struggle for freedom, and let us make it our collective mission to build a world where freedom prevails.
Says Mass Media Twists Race Facts

By Thomas Reed

From the beginning, race in the media was carefully managed for the benefit of the American public, and the press has been quick to point out that the media are not responsible for the creation of race hatred.

When we look back at the media's coverage of race issues, we find that the press has consistently played down the role of race in American society, and has instead focused on individual achievements, and the efforts of individuals to overcome racial barriers.

The media's coverage of race issues has been characterized by a lack of balance, and a failure to recognize the extent to which race has influenced the lives of American citizens. For example, the media has consistently portrayed African Americans as a monolithic group, ignoring the diversity that exists within the community.

In conclusion, the media's coverage of race issues has been characterized by a lack of balance, and a failure to recognize the extent to which race has influenced the lives of American citizens. The media has a responsibility to provide a balanced and accurate portrayal of race issues, and to recognize the ways in which race has influenced the lives of American citizens.

Would Hippopotamus Stew Or Powdered Camel Fit Your Menu?

NATIBO, Kenya—The hippopotamus stew may be more tasty than today's main dish. Scientists in the Capitol and hippos of Kenya are working on a new dish—hippopotamus stew. The meat is rich with beefy flavor and nutritious. A Hippopotamus stew can be made quickly and cooked in a few minutes. However, to make the dish, several steps must be followed. The meat is washed, cut into small pieces, and then mixed with ground beans and vegetables. Finally, the stew is served with hot bread. The food is tasty, and people like it very much.

Job Outlook For Unskilled Bleak, Says Secretary Of Labor Goldberg

Higher Standards Of Skill
And Proficiency Must Be Met

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Young women attending the World of Work Conference at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel here were addressed by Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg in his keynote address:

"Job markets are expanding, youth are increasing, labor laws are becoming more liberal, standards of skill and proficiency are rising, but the factor of economic change is not making the impact that it should make," the Secretary said.

"The problem is one of training. We are faced with the necessity of eliminating ten years of training by combining the practical elements of economic change, and making of opportunities for an expanding of the number of women entering the labor market. The result is that many young women are finding opportunities in the 'unskilled' area." (Two-Day Conference)

Inner Beauty' As Reflected In Personality Key to true Beauty

A woman possessed of soul and grace, wedded with a spiritual personality, is a true beauty, one that is more than a physical beauty.

True beauty is the way a woman smiles, walks and talks with others. It is the way the character of a person is expressed, regardless of her outward appearance.

A woman who is really pretty, however, is not enough. The character, or personality, is more important than beauty. A woman who has a beautiful soul is a true beauty.

These are but a few of the many, many qualities that make a woman truly beautiful. She is the embodiment of soul and grace, and has the potentiality of beauty.

There are wonderful changes in human nature in the last 50 years. As a result of increased education, more opportunities have been opened up to women, and the dignity of her position in society and the respect she receives from others, has been increased.

Finally, women have been given the right to vote. It is the beauty of an individual's personality. In general, personality is the true beauty to the world.

New Sounds

CHICAGO—(AP)—The last three words weren't spoken by the young man—"I'm going to call you—"—but they were the ones that mattered. The words were spoken by the young man, a member of the New Sounds group, which is making a comeback after a long absence. The group includes, in addition to the young man, a bass player, a drummer, and a guitarist. The group's music is described as a mix of rock and roll and R&B, with a lot of energy and a lot of attitude. The young man, who is the group's lead singer, said that the group's comeback is a testament to the power of music and the ability of musicians to come back strong after a period of inactivity.

The group's first concert in several years sold out quickly, and the response was overwhelmingly positive. The young man said that the group is planning to release a new album in the near future, and that they are looking forward to performing again. The group's influence is felt throughout the music world, and they are considered to be one of the most important and influential groups of their generation.

The New Sounds group is a testament to the power of music and its ability to bring people together. Their comeback is a reminder that even in the face of adversity, music can provide solace and hope. The group's music is a celebration of life and love, and it is a reminder that even in the darkest of times, there is always a way to find light. The New Sounds group is a shining example of the power of music to change lives and bring people together. Their comeback is a joyous occasion, and they are sure to be a huge success once again.
Red Saunders To Feature African Drums On Concerts

With a full itinerary covering major Negro colleges, Red Saunders band is embarking on a special concert program, "African-American Panorama," to be presented on the collegiate tour. Making the national spotlight will be a set of percussion motifs.

The drums being used in this country, were presented to prominent Negro colleges by Don F. Warner, noted Chicago percussion and musical director of the Chicago Conservatory. Don Warner is also the noted New York Patriarch of the African conga drum.

Opening the collegiate tour was Red Saunders and his band, performing a feature spot from the film, "The Blues Buddies." The film, directed by film director, presents Red Saunders and his famous drums and cast Warren, author of the film, and other stars of "The Blues Buddies." The film is "untold tales of a year of the African continent.

Minor League Hurler Cracks Old

Record: Whiffs 22 In 9 Innings

COLUMBUS — A great-game against the Columbus Senators last night, Columbus' 22-year-old left-handed pitcher, George Snider, set a new minor league record for strikeouts in a game. Snider pitched a complete game, allowing only one hit and striking out 22 batters.

Snider was on top of his game all night, striking out batter after batter. In the first inning, he struck out the side. In the second inning, he struck out the first two batters, and then walked the next two. In the third inning, he struck out the side again.

Snider's performance was impressive, and he set a new record for strikeouts in a single game. The previous record was held by another Columbus hurler, Bob Anderson, who struck out 19 batters in a game against the Dayton Dragons in 1933.

In other news, the Columbus Clippers have announced that they will be playing a game against the Indianapolis Indians on Sunday. The game is expected to be a very competitive one, and fans are looking forward to seeing some of the league's best players in action.

In other news, the Columbus Blue Jackets have announced that they will be playing a game against the Cleveland Barons on Saturday. The game is expected to be a very competitive one, and fans are looking forward to seeing some of the league's best players in action.

1,300 Fight Bias in N.C., Albany Plans Reprisals

STATESVILLE, N.C. — 1,300 Negroes marched on Statesville, N.C., on Sunday, to protest racial segregation. The demonstration, which was held for the second time in three weeks, was led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and was attended by 1,300 Negroes, who were stopped by police in front of the town hall. The demonstration was led by Dr. King, who was arrested for blocking the entrance to the town hall. The police used tear gas to disperse the crowd. The demonstration was one of many held in recent weeks to protest the overturning of an earlier demonstration in which 300 Negroes were arrested.

Cloture on Bill But Defeat For FEPC Amendment

WASHINGTON — The Senate, by 50-37, rejected today a bill to amend the Fair Employment Practices Commission Act. The measure, which was introduced by Senator F. enumerator for the Commission, was defeated by a vote of 50-37. The vote came after a debate in which witnesses testified for and against the amendment. The amendment, which would have made it easier for the commission to investigate complaints, was proposed by Senator F. enumerator for the Commission.
U.S. Judge Rips School Jim Crow

In the heat of school desegregation struggles, North and South, the decision of segregation given by Judge Julian J. Hoffman, ruling on Chicago schools, was cited here by noted educator Dr. Wayne Moore as the guidepost for attacking school inequality.

Addressing a gathering of school teachers here, Malleson said: "The issue of school segregation lies like a scumbound cloud near each town in England. N. L. Chicago, Prince Edward County, Va. and other areas on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line."

Hoffman's decision, he said, dwelt at length on the detrimental effect of segregation upon the children of both races. He held that "segregation deprives both the white and black child of the full experience of working together, learning from one another and acquiring habits of good citizenship."

The judge said: "If it is the policy of the Negro child," Judge Hoffman continued, "the segregation, which produces the adverse psychological effects and general retardation that can be plainly seen in the inferiority of Negro children, will mean that the Negro child's education is being denied him in his schools."

"It is painted to speculate on the amount of talent that is wasted through failure to provide Negro children with sufficient opportunity and increased in schools that have been desegregated."

Judge Hoffman added: "Intelligence tests reveal an insignificant difference between Negro and white child. Indeed, the advantages had by Negro children, especially the emotional effects of segregation, are counterbalanced by their great need for an integrated society."

In driving aside popular notions of many Northern communities on school segregation, Judge Hoffman put that "segregation cannot be defended on the ground that it is the result of a plan of Negroes to the school board."

"We can't say definitely that we don't know what is the percentage of Negro people in a given school because we don't ask a student his race or make it a part of the school record. There is nothing gross," he said sharply, "in the concept. In fact it is suggested that this is a method that has been so important to child and his relationship to the community."
